

So many students apply for summer programs and are not accepted. Most times detailed feedback is not provided. Here are some reasons an applicant may be accepted into a program:

- The applicant's goals and interests do not match the program. There is a lot of competition for